

“I was raped by my grandson.”

“Are you sure you’re not confused?”

YOUR RESPONSE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE.

When someone tells you they’ve been raped, there’s a simple response. Start by Believing.

April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month. Sexual assault in later life is a serious, underreported problem. Advanced age does not protect one from sexual assault, but rather increases risk in many ways.* Resist ageist assumptions that older adults are not victims of sexual crimes. Knowing how to respond to someone who has disclosed abuse is critical—a negative response can worsen the trauma. Start by Believing.

When someone comes to you...what will your response be?

Start by Believing

www.startbybelieving.org

www.ncall.us

*Ramsey-Klawnsnik, Holly (2010). Sexual Violence in Later Life Factsheet, National Sexual Violence Resource Center.